Judge Thurman on Ben Johnson.

Judge I. H. Thurman, one of the leading local option advocates of Kentucky, delivered a speech in Bardstown on Monday, December 13, in favor of abolishing the saloons in Nelson county. Bardstown is the home of Congressman Ben Johnson, of the Fourth District. Mr. Johnson had been misrepresented in reference to his attitude on the temperance question by a well-known State politician. Of this misrepresentation Judge Thurman spoke as follows:

"But why should I bother about misrepresentations? Is that not the way in Kentucky now, especially when a man holds or is a prospective candidate for office? Is not your own most distinguished citizen's position on this very question almost daily misrepresented, and purely for political purpose? Did not one of the Hart county papers, a bit ago, say that Ben Johnson owned and operated one of the largest distillery plants in Nelson county, when I and all of you know that he never, at any time, had any interest, directly or indirectly, in the manufacture or sale of whisky. You and I know and every man willing to know the truth knows, that the records of your County Clerk's office, kept within a hundred feet of where I now stand, bear mute testimony to the fact that the first vote he ever cast in his life was for local option in Bardstown. He has voted that way for nearly a quarter of a century. At the first election held in this county upon the question which was three years ago, he then voted for local option, and I know and every body knows, that he will again vote for local option next Saturday. He is a plain man of few words, and yet a man who is not afraid to express his convictions. In my recent canvass for re-election as Circuit Judge of the Eleventh Judicial District, when I was being fought by the whisky interests of that District as, perhaps, no man was ever fought before, Ben Johnson was the only man holding public office in Kentucky outside of my District who came to my assistance. In a speech made in the very camp of the enemy, with distilleries standing all about him, he boldly and plainly stated that upon the question of local option he stood exactly where he had always stood; that he had always voted for it and always intended to do so.

He has never trimmed; he has never dodged. Though he beats no drum, blows no horn and never marches with a brass band, you need never doubt his position upon any public question. More than that, he is a 'dry' man of the right kind—he practices what he preaches. He is one of the few men of my acquaintance of whom it can be truthfully said that neither spirituous, vinous nor malt liquor ever passed his lips—glorious example to the youth of this country. But I came to talk to you of other matters. You people of Nelson county know these things better than I do."

Report of Dr. U. L. Taylor.

To the Fiscal Court of Adair County, Gentlemen:—

In January 1909, I commenced devoting my whole time to the public health. I proposed to devote my whole time to this very important work, for the sum of five hundred dollars. The Fiscal Court, which has the fixing of the salaries of all salaried officers of the county, in their wisdom thought the amount too large. The law says they must pay the health officer a reasonable compensation for his services, and further says, that the County Board of Health shall indicate to the Fiscal Court what would be a reasonable salary for this officer. The County Board of Health fixed the salary at five hundred dollars. But the Fiscal Court thought that two hundred dollars was salary enough, which amounts to the magnificent sum of fifty-four cents per day. On appeal to the Circuit court, the salary was raised to three hundred and fifty dollars, and it stands at that to-day. This sum I have never agreed to take. The law prescribes that the duties of the health officer shall be, and without regard to the action of the Fiscal Court, I undertook to comply with those requirements. He is required to visit all houses where persons have died of consumption, fumigate them, and disinfect and make them fit for future habitation. In obedience to this, I have visited thirty houses, fumigated, disinfected them and put them in order. In doing this I traveled six hundred miles, burned thirty formaldehyde lamps that cost me thirty-five cents each. The health officer is also required to guard the county against smallpox. Early in the Spring an epidemic broke out in the neighborhood of Milltown and Gradyville. Had 24 cases. Some very bad, others very mild. Had one death, an old woman seventy years of age. And one still born child. Made twenty-five visits, at an average of twenty miles, making 500 miles, used seven disinfecting lamps and the county was clear of the disease. There was no spread outside the first infection. The hardest days work I had during the year, was the burying of old lady Coomer, who died of smallpox. Although many denied the disease being smallpox, they did not wish to run any risks in the matter.

The health officer is also required to look after cases of Typhoid fever. In obedience to this, I visited where twenty patients had been sick of this disease. Seven of the cases died, and I fumigated the houses of the living and the dead. In doing this I traveled 150 miles, and used 10 fumigating lamps. I visited and fumigated the house where one man had died of Pneumonia. During the Fall and Winter the county has been scourged with diphtheria. I made three trips to the Russell Springs, Sano and other points, watching for the advent of this scourge. Quite a number of deaths occurred in different parts of the county, some unattended by any medical help. I ordered from the State Board of Health, a free supply of the diphtheritic antitoxin, and gave it out liberally to physicians in different parts of the county, since which, there has been no more deaths from this heretofore unmanageable disease. The antitoxin has been so universally successful, that the doctors no more dread to be called to see a case of it.

I have administered the remedy to 12 cases with uniform success. I have fumigated the houses where ten children had the disease, some of whom died and some recovered. One man, whose child had just died of the disease, refused to have his house fumigated because nobody ever died until his time had come. I ordered out the fool-killer, and left him to his reflections. We have had only three cases of scarlet fever during the year. Two of them were in town, and the other just over the line. All rather mild. I fumigated the rooms where they occurred, and there was no further spread.

The law further says, the health officer shall make a sanitary survey of the territory under his jurisdiction, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence of conditions detrimental to the public health, including in said survey, swamp lands, stagnant ponds, imperfect drainage, sewerage, cess pools and water closets: the construction, ventilation, and drainage of public buildings, school houses, prisons, hospitals, eleemosynary institutions, and such nuisances as might prove detrimental to the health. Under this rule I have visited and examined 84 school houses, talked to the teachers and children on public health, suspended several schools, on account of sickness in their neighborhoods, examined the water supply, and analyzed water, having suspended several schools on account of too much ventilation, improper and imperfect heating arrangements, and bad roofs. I undertook to lay the foundation of improved public health by teaching the children its first principles.

I would have had greater success, if a greater number of children had been in attendance. In the 84 schools visited there ought to have been in attendance, 5004 pupils, while I found only 1762 or just 35 per cent. That is, 35 in every hundred were in attendance, and 65 in every hundred were absent. And this after the munificent appropriation by the last Legislature for common school purposes. And this after the several whirlwind campaigns of the great men of the state to try to get up an interest in the common schools. The colored schools made a worse showing than did the whites. Out of 449 that ought to have been present, I found only 118 there, or 25 per cent. Now, it is clear to my mind that something ought to be done, and that speedily. The Legislature will meet in a few days, and there ought to be some radical changes in the common school law. I am decidedly in favor of a rigid compulsory law, one that will "compel." The law compels men to pay their taxes, work the road, fight when it becomes necessary, and why should it allow them to neglect their children, and permit them to grow up in ignorance, when the state has such lavish provision for their education. I talked to quite a number of the teachers on the subject of a compulsory law, and they without exception favored it. The state pays into our county for common school purposes, more than $20,000, and only a few of the children get any benefit from it.

And now gentlemen of the Fiscal Court, this is my years work, I have furnished my own conveyance, fed myself and horse, furnished for the children of the county, more than $100 worth of Antitoxin, furnished $30 worth of disinfectants traveled more than 3000 miles, and it is now up to you to see that I am paid for all this work.

Respectfully Yours,
U. L. Taylor,
Health Officer Adair County

Dulworth.

The health of this community is very good at present.

Christmas passed off very quietly in our section.

The young people of our community took advantage of the recent snow, and had a jolly time sleigh riding.

Mrs. N. F. Harden, who has been quite sick, is reported better.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bault spent Friday of last week with the latter's grandmother, Mrs. M. E. Pike.

A protracted meeting will commence at our church January the 5th, conducted by Brothers Tally and Rood.

Your correspondent spent part of Christmas week with Misses Lou Ella and Alice Bault.

The school conducted at this place by W. R. Squires closed December 24th, with a good record of work by both teacher and pupils. There are several boys and girls, who have almost completed the common school course. The first prize for good spelling was won by Miss Ollie Pike, in a written contest of seventy-four out of seventy-five of the most difficult words in "The Modern Pronouncing Speller, the prize being a Webster's Dictionary. Eugene Pike came in second with sixty of the seventy-five words. Good grades were made. Cordie Allison, Owen Care, Welby Hardin and others. This should speak well for Mr. Squires, as the pupils of our school were far behind, especially in spelling, when he took charge of the school.

Dirigo.

The old year is past and gone, and we are one step nearer eternity. To some the memory of the year that has passed will bring gay and gladness, while to others, perhaps, it will only call forth blighted hopes and bitter disappointment. To some, the year will be remembered as the happiest period of their lives, while to others its memory will bring only tears. Perhaps to most of us it has not been a period of sunshine and gladness, nor has it been all rain. But it has gone. It is now a part of eternity. It cannot be recalled. So let us bid farewell to our plighted hopes, and greet the New Year with a smile and with a determination to profit by our experiences in the past. Let us remember that time wasted is lost; that our lives are cut short just so much. But anon, anon. The past is past. So with a sigh for the might have been and a prayer for future help and guidance, let us shoulder our burden and start out in life anew and so live, should we be called before His throne ere the year is past, that we may hear him say in a loving tone, well done. So now wishing you all a happy New Year I shall proceed to give you what news I can gather within and around our thriving little city.

Misses Elizabeth and Annie Alexander, Messrs. J. C. Alexander and J. E. Winfrey spent last Tuesday night and Wednesday with Elizabeth Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Winfrey and Elizabeth Lloyd spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Irvin of Bakerton.

Miss Frona Cooper spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. D. T. Tarter.

Last Thursday morning Dec. 30th, at 9:30 at the home of the brides father, Mr. J. E. Winfrey and Miss Annie Alexander was married, Rev. D. T. Tarter officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Alexander and is a beautiful and accomplished young lady. Is a natural teacher and has taught since eighteen years of age in our public school. She seemed very much composed and her beauty was intensified by the occasion, never did a bride appear more like an angel than did she as she stood and pledged her faith to her lover. Her dress was of white silk and lace. She was a most faithful member of the Methodist Church. She will be missed at her home, at her church and by her many friends we regret very much to give her up. The groom is a son of Rev. I. C. Winfrey and is a man into whose face one has only to look to be convinced that he is a gentleman. He is a teacher in the public school. Immediately after the ceremony the newly married couple left for Glasgow Ky.

Obituary.

Last Thursday at twelve o'clock the spirit of Mrs. Eugene Holladay took its flight to the God who gave it. She was born Dec. 20th 1855, died Dec. 30th 1909, making her fifty-four years and ten days old when the end came.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodson Bell, who preceded her to the grave many years ago. Early in life she confessed her Savior united with the Methodist church and lived a true christian until the end.

Several years ago she was married to J. H. Holladay who with three children survive her two girls and one boy.

The deceased was a sister of Mr. C. S. Bell Gradyville, Mrs. J. H. Wilson of Missouri, Mrs. Mary E. Rose and Mrs. Patra Kinniard of the Nell community, all of whom were with her when she died except Mrs. Wilson. Everything that loving friends and her physician could do was done for her relief but no avail.

She was a victim of pneumonia and had only been sick a few days, but the great physician watching over her would bear her sufferings no longer and sent his messenger to summons her tired spirit to its eternal and blessed home.

But a short while before she died she called her companion and little children and all of her other friends to her bed-side and delivered her farewell address, saying I am going to live with sister and all the rest of them. She prayed a beautiful prayer for all and especially her little children, that she peacefully and quietly fell asleep in the arms of Jesus.

To the grief stricken Husband, sisters, and brother I would say weep not as those who have no hope, for among the angels assembled to meet her there was none more bright and holy, she would not come back but awaits your coming to live with her. Children walk in mothers foot steps and you will gain what she has, a bright home beyond this veil of tears, where sickness nor sorrow nor death never comes but where all is peace and gladness.

The song and prayer services were at the family burying ground where she was laid to await the judgement. A niece. Flora Moss.

Liver Trouble Remedy Free

Any intelligent person can be his own doctor in the ordinary case of liver trouble, for the symptoms cannot be mistaken. If the white of the eye becomes yellowish, if the skin becomes sallow, if pimples and blotches appear, if the bowels do not move, if you have sick headache, if you are bilious, you may be sure that your liver is torpid or inactive.

The quickest and surest remedy yet found for the cure of liver trouble or any of its symptoms is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herbative compound. This wonderful remedy is not only a laxative, but a tonic as well. It will start the flow of gastric juice, thereby soon enabling the liver to do its work naturally. A bottle of this great liver remedy can be bought of any druggist for 50 cents or 50¢ and in many cases a single bottle has cured a curable case.

For example, John W. Lee, 619 S. Franklin Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., had a stomach and very long-standing case of liver trouble with piles, hemorrhoids, indigestion, etc., and it cured him. Mrs. R. K. Johnson, Jackson, Ky., had some of the "thousands of families" keep it in the house and use it. It is a great emergency, as you can never tell when some member of the family will need a good laxative.

In order to have you or any other sufferer from the liver make a test of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, write to me at once. Dr. Caldwell will send you a free trial bottle if you will send your name and address. The sample will show you how pleasant it is to take, how greatly it works. It will start you on the cure of your trouble and convince you that you have found a cure. That is the object of the cure and the doctor urges you to send for it today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want my medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service.

The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 300 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

When I see a young man bearing himself in company as though he were a prince of the royal blood and seeking some one to help share with him a kingdom of clover-honey and cream, and I happened to know just how snubbing and disobliging and rude he can be at home, I long to get right up in meeting and proclaim what a fraud he is. The girl who marries him will get a peppered in place of honey, and skim milk rather than cream. The wares such men carry with them are only show stock, like the wares of a peddler. We do not judge of the fortunes of the drummer by the goods he carries; he may display diamonds on his inventory, but own nothing better than colored glass pinchbeck.

A Wretched Mistake

to endure the itching, painful distress of Piles. There's no need to Listen. I suffered much from Piles," writes Will A. Marsh, of Silver City, N. C. The egg-farmer always has a fowls to sell. He sells his surplus cockerels in the Spring, his old hens in the Fall. When poultry is sold it should be fitted for market in the best possible manner. If it is sold alive the crates should not be overcrowded. If it is dressed it should be carefully killed, perfectly cleaned, with the head and legs and feet washed clean, and packed in new boxes lined with white paper if it is not warm enough to require the use of ice. The market poultryman who attends to all the little things which make his goods slightly and attractive will soon find he has a growing demand for his products.

Governor Willson, in his message to the Legislature, covered much ground and revealed but little not heretofore known, in fact, it largely assumes the nature of a defense of himself and party before the voice of an accuser has been heard. In calling the attention of the Legislature to the financial condition of the State he shows that $1,123,706.18 is the deficit, and the appropriations that should be made brings the total amount up to nearly two million dollars that the Legislature should provide for an even pull for the next year. To do this means a n increase in tax, or a bond issue. While the message shows that the present administration inherited from the Democrats a deficit of $124,597, yet it claims no responsibility for the increase, but charges the deficit up to a Democratic Legislature. Not charging extravagance, not dodging party responsibilities, but it seems strange that a Democratic Legislature would elect Mr. Bradley to the U. S. Senate. Regardless of responsibility the Legislature, in our judgment, should increase the revenues, even though the burden falls on the tax payers, and cut out the appropriations until the deficit has been wiped out. This would doubtless retard some progressive movements already inaugurated, would cripple to some extent the beneficent work of charitable institutions depending on state aid, but the season of depression would not be long, and when once cut of debt renewed vigor would follow in the revival of charities, buoyant hope and liberalities of the State. In fact the present assembly has a difficult task and a responsibility that should not be lightly considered. If it escapes without much criticism it will be necessary to reduce appropriations to the lowest dollar possible. The deficit under Mr. Willson is a magnificent showing of expert executive ability and unless relieved by the General Assembly will doubtless equal the capital stock of some of the modern industrial corporations by the time his term expires. His argument to shift responsibility from his party to the opposite may be pleasing to some, but not convincing to many. Kentucky needs nearly two million dollars as well as milder weather.

A bill will be introduced in the Kentucky Legislature asking that the salary of Circuit Judges be raised, and when it is necessary for the Governor to appoint a special Judge to hold a court he must appoint one of the elected Judges, who is not holding a term, to preside at the special term, and for his services he is to receive no remuneration above his salary. At present any qualified lawyer can be appointed to hold special terms of Circuit courts, and for his services he receives eight dollars a day. We believe that it would be a saving to the State for the proposed measure to become a law. If this measure should pass the increase in salary, it would not, it is believed, apply to Judges now in office. It would certainly be a constitutional question.

We are sorry to note that a few papers which reach our desk—Kentucky papers, are edited by a bureau, located in Washington, D. C., or some other distant place. Boys, write your own copy, and your paper will have a better standing with the fraternity.

The Committee appointed by Gov. Willson to submit a redistricting bill, makes a Adair a Legislative district. According to population she has been entitled to a district for many years, and was to herself until the last census was taken.

Snyder Texas.

Just 8 years ago to night my memory goes back to old Gradyville when Bob Lee, Clarence, John Lee and myself had a night of fun and Clarence Hindman ran against a goods box and tore off the end of his thumb. While I sit and write the boys are enjoying such fun here. I live just about as close to my business here as I did in Gradyville and the ground is covered with snow just as it was 8 years ago at Gradyville. How I would love to see the boys to night. We have had 3 weeks of cold weather, mercury down below zero last Sunday night, but has turned warmer now. For just one week we have had cold still weather, not enough wind to turn a wind mill, lots of cattle freezing to death all over this county.

This is a town of 3500 people thickly settled all over the county which is fine for farming. We have one large school building and 2 smaller ones just built at a cost of $9000.00, each situated in different parts of the town. A new court-house to post, when completed and furnished $125,000.00. Several fine brick buildings going up. We have one railroad now in operation which branches off from the T. P. near Sweetwater, and runs North west in the direction of Lubuck, one other under construction, the Santa Fee from Coleman city to Texico, which they expect to have completed in about 8 months and 2 others in contemplation. When we get all these roads we can start in any direction almost my rail.

We have had lots of rain and snow which has put the ground in fine condition for plowing and the farmers are jubilant and getting in their time plowing preparatory for planting as early as possible. The high price of cotton is having its effect on them and a large crop will be planted. Cotton to day is bringing 15 cents per pound for middling cotton on the streets of Snyder, but is about all sold. Not more than 1 of a crop made. We have 6 churches with as many different denominations all pretty well attended, all have Sunday schools. The people here most of them are as fine as can be, while some of them are not so good. They are about as civil and law abiding as I ever saw.

I am still selling goods and do a fairly good business considering that I am a stranger to about all of them. But every few days some fellow comes in and says, hello old boy, haven't seen you for a long time but you look natural. J. C. Mitchell of Adair County Ky., son of Abner Mitchell, is here a boss painter and contractor. Clide Gill is here from old Adair, and one of the best contractors here in house building. Tim Bradshaw Conover, son of little Tom Conover, is also here; weighs 260 pounds and lives 30 miles west of here. I did not know him when he drove up and call me out to buy a big fat hog that he had hauled to sell. He got 6 cents for one on foot and they were good ones and fat. I could name several others from Kentucky, but as my friends back there never write to me, I take it that they will not appreciate a letter from me in print. So will close for the present by saying that we are all well and would welcome any of you out to see us at any time.

I send you one dollar which I know you will be glad to get and you can send the News on to us one more year, as the old man always says when he goes to the circus show, "the children love to read it, would not have come but just come to bring the children."

J. J. Hunter.

Saved at Death's Door.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken, tongue coated; emanated from losing 40 pounds, growing weaker daily. Violent liver trouble pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine, Electric Bitters, cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and how am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c at Paul Drug Co.

Alcohol From Sweet Potatoes.

The Department of Agriculture has been experimenting for some time on the manufacture of denatured alcohol for engine fuel. It has worked with all sorts of fruits, both sweet and Irish potatoes and sugar beets and turnips. It has been found that there is a considerable amount of alcohol in the watermelon, but the most promising crop so far tried is the sweet potato.

It is said that with the current value of the sweet potato in the Southern States it is possible to make denatured alcohol for 20 cents a gallon. This is a good deal less than denatured alcohol sells for on the market. The outlook is said to be good for all the South Atlantic and Gulf States. It is explained however, that there has been a greater demand for alcohol since the free alcohol bill passed and the result is that the price has gone up instead of down.

Officials of the Department believe that it is probable by co-operative distilling the farmers of the Southern States can make the sweet potato crop pay more than it has ever done before.

Good And Bad Farming.

The farmer who has corn for sale is generally considered a successful sort of farmer. Down at Holly Springs, Miss., there is a farmer who has corn for sale, and he is a one-horse farmer at that. There is nothing unusual in the case of a man who operates a farm offering his products for sale. In this particular instance, however, the circumstances are worth considering.

The Holly Springs man who has corn for sale purchased his small farm only a few years ago. It was worn out when he bought it. The man who sold it did not attempt to conceal the fact that he was selling because he could not make a living on it. The present owner not only has made a living on it, but has made money and has corn for sale. When he moved onto the worn-out land he set about reclaiming it. He did not undertake to fertilize it all at once, but enriched it acre by acre. Some years he reclaimed two acres and in others he reclaimed four or five. He has depended on his own labor and the work of redemption was slow. Nevertheless he kept digging away until the entire tract was made tillable and productive. He is getting along in years now and cannot work so hard as he used to, but he has made money and can afford to employ help. He has made as high as eighty bushels of corn on an acre of land on which the former owner could not make a living. He plowed deep, worked hard, used intelligent methods and spread fertilizer. The old wornout farm is a thing of beauty to the eye of the appreciative owner.

The transformation that has been effected illustrates the difference between careless, happy-go-lucky modes of farming and that practical, intensive cultivation which brings results. The former owner wouldn't have made much of a showing if he had possessed a thousand acres.

The present owner would have dug a living out of a solitary acre if that had been the extent of his holding.

The farmer who is unable to make a living on his land should observe the methods of his fellow farmer who has corn for sale. —Courier-Journal.

Fabulous Insurance on a Man.

Insurance to the amount of $1,500,000 has been applied for on the life of Geo. E. Nicholson, forty years old, a cement manufacturer of Kansas City, by two of the companies of which he is the head. Insurance men say this is the largest amount of life insurance ever sought at one time upon the life of any one person in the history of insurance.

For more than twelve hours twenty-five physicians, representing different insurance companies, examined Mr. Nicholson. When the day was over he was thoroughly tired and so were the doctors.

He was given the most searching examination possible. After it was all over the physicians declared that he was in perfect physical health, and the local agents of the different insurance companies said that the policies undoubtedly would be issued.

Mr. Nicholson already carries more than $1,000,000 insurance on his life.

It's Catching.

Smile and the world smiles with you, "knock" and you go alone; for the cheerful grin will let you in where the kicker is never known. Growl, and the way looks dreary, laugh and the path is bright; for a wholesome smile brings sunshine, while a frown shuts out the light. Sing and the world is harmonious; grumble and things go wrong; and all the time you are out of rhyme with the busy hustling throng. Kick and there's trouble brewing; whistle and life is gay, and the world's in tune like a day in June, and the clouds all melt away. —Exchange.

Lazy and Gluttonous Hens.

Discard the sluggish, inactive hen. Look at a flock and you may see part of them that show more activity than others. Some may get on the roost in the daytime and stay there part of the day, while others are busy working. Such loafers are not wanted. Sell them off as soon as found out. Keep the busy one. Then there is the gluttonous one, the "hog" that will eat more than the good layers and not lay much at all. Such hens are not profitable. Watch for the singing hen—the one that is full of life. They are usually the good ones. The active, singing hen is the one that usually pays the profit. —Inland Poultry Journal.

Bakerton.

J. H. Goff of Columbia was here last week to see his parents Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Goff.

W. R. Goff of Columbia, is here on a visit.

Uncle Alex Baker was very sick Saturday night. He fell and hurt himself and is still in a very serious condition. He will be 82 years old next July.

Messrs. Will Young and Edwin Wilson of Columbia are paying their respect to this part of the country.

Miss Mina Breeding visited Mr. W. H. Cole of Crocus, New Years day. Mrs. Cole had a 4 o'clock dinner and there was a large crowd present.

There were several of the young folks taking dinner at S. T. Irvin's New Years day. They all seemed to enjoy themselves.

Messrs. Clarence Guthrie and James Owens and Misses Lucy and Myrta Maupin, of Maupin, Ky., were visiting their kinsfolk around here during X-mas.

Mr. James Cole agent for The Adair County News, was here Friday shopping and delivering papers. Jim has about gotten over his fall, but think he will be scared a little.

We are having some summer weather now which is melting the ice very fast but the river don't seem to rise any.

J. L. Glidewell is drifting ice he is going to wait until warm weather to put it up he says it is too cold now.

Henry Parrish will start to school at Burkesville in a few days. Suppose they are trying to have a fine school there. Mr. Payne was here a few days ago soliciting patronage.

Traveling men are very scarce just now. It looks like every thing is going to be very quiet this season, no drummers and no boats.

W. W. Morris went to Burkesville last week and made bond for magistrate. We all think Bro. Norris will make us a good

Why Suffer?

Are you one of the thousands of women who suffer from female ailments? If so, don't be discouraged, go to your druggist and get a bottle of Wine of Cardui. On the wrapper are full directions for use. During the last half century, Cardui has been established in thousands of homes, as a safe remedy for pain which only women endure. It is reliable, contains no harmful ingredients and can be depended on in almost any case.

Take CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Charles Bragg, of Sweetser, Ind., tried Cardui. She writes: "Tongue cannot tell how much Cardui has done for me. Before I began taking Cardui I could not do a day's work. I would work awhile and lie down. I shall always give praise to your medicine." Try Cardui.

One of the latest and most pleasing events in this community was at the home of Mr. S. M. Jones, Jan. the 1st, the occasion being the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Jones. The weather not being favorable for such a gathering though many friends and relatives found their way to the home with well filled baskets. Soon the table was groaning under its load, and after sixty or more had tried to relieve it of its burthen plenty was left. Ten children list this union and all lived to be grown. They were not all present one being dead. William and Nonie Belle living in Texas, Noah, at Fort McKinley Wyoming, and John H. being at home sick, these were not present but the rest were with many of the grand children. Mr. Jones was born in 1840 and served in the Union army 3 years and 4 months. Mrs. Jones was born in 1842. They were hale and hearty and enjoyed the many table delicacies with their friends. They received many valuable and useful presents suitable to the occasion.
